

国際経営学修士（専門職）
カリキュラム・ポリシー（教育課程の編成・実施方針）

Our mission is to develop visionary leaders who create and innovate societies. To this end, our curriculum is designed to establish leaders with the necessary skills to solve problems in a rapidly evolving business environment.

Furthermore, our Full-time MBA program accepts international students from around the world to study on a full-time basis. Within one year, students can intensively and comprehensively study a wide range of subjects to assist future career advancement or even fuel a new career change. No matter the goal, students will acquire the qualities of business leaders who thrive globally.

Structure

Each course falls into one of three categories: Fundamental, Applied, and Specialized. After acquiring basic knowledge with Fundamental courses and honing their skills with Applied courses, students can use these skills to tackle contemporary issues and problems in Specialized courses.

Fundamental and Applied courses are split into six disciplines. Three of these disciplines are common to any MBA program: Organizational Behavior & Human Resource Management, Marketing & Strategy, and Accounting & Finance. They allow students to systematically acquire the skills that will allow them to understand people, capital, and money. In addition, GLOBIS focuses on three additional unique disciplines: Critical & Analytical Skills, Management Philosophy, and Technovate. During tough times, leaders must rely on their values and beliefs to guide them. Moreover, in today's rapidly changing environment, modern leaders need a deeper understanding of technology to thrive.

Our specialized courses are split into the following areas: Creation (focusing on creating something from scratch), Innovation (emphasizing the iteration and growth of existing things), and Japan/Asia/Global (highlighting the development of leaders who drive creation and innovation in an Asia-center global economy).

In addition to the above, our program requires students to take the subject "Critical Thinking (CRT)" to acquire essential thinking, problem-solving, and communication skills before undertaking other courses. We also offer the "Integrated Learning Program - Internship" course, where students can gain practical experience by interning at a company while learning practical business skills and knowledge from accompanying faculty members.

How?

Classes at GLOBIS are discussion-based in order to help students put their acquired knowledge into practice and produce real results. GLOBIS uses the Case method of study, so students may think deeply about topics and develop their practical skills through repeated discussion.

As our Full-time MBA program is conducted on our Tokyo campus, students gain a rich understanding of Japanese business and culture during their studies and daily life.
